THE THOUGHTFUL GROCER.

Our grocer is a thoughtful man—
Most thoughtful ever was.
If he is out of what we wish
He sends us what he has.
We phone him for some parsnips; if
On parsnips he is shy,
He sends along some carrots when
We never carrots buy.
If celery is the order, and
He hasn't any—well,
He sends some sweet potatoes, thinking
They will do as well.
That's why we're changing grocers. We
Will stand for him no longer.
We ordered butter yesterday—
He sent us something stronger.

Strikes and Spares

The Fourth Ward Tigers and the Heavyweights will have a bowling match next Tuesday night, best two in three. Fun commences at 7:30 sharp.

Frank Keenan, who is starring this season as Hon. John Grigsby in Charles Klein's play of that name, has won his place as a legitimate star by years of steady and often difficult climbing on the theatrical ladder. He began this career, when a boy, in the Boston theaters and played there in support of nearly all of the old stars. Since then he has acted in almost every line of plays from Shakesperian tragedies to modern farces. He has every trick of stage management at his finger's ends, as was evidenced by the perfection of the New York production of "The Christian" which he directed. In "Hon. John Grigsby" he displays not only his splendid accomplishments in acting but also his genius in stage craft. It is one of the most perfectly mounted productions on the road this season, and will be at Washington Opera-house Saturday, November 18th.
